- Personal details including your nationality or physical or mental health are considered “sensitive” Personal Data under applicable Data Privacy Law. We will process any such data only if you have given your explicit consent, or it is necessary (for instance, if you request special assistance), or if the sensitive Personal Data has been manifestly made public by you (e.g., by posting information about your health/fitness status in the Ya Bish Fit Forum), or otherwise in compliance with applicable Data Privacy Law.
- The Platform may require information about your physical health to provide certain functions or services, including when you use or interact with a wearable or other connected device that integrates with the Platform. We follow strict security procedures in the storage and disclosure of your Personal Data, which are designed to protect it against misuse, unauthorised access, modification or disclosure and accidental loss, destruction or damage. The data you provide to us is protected using SSL (Secure Socket Layer) technology. SSL is the industry standard method of encrypting Personal Data and credit card details so that they can be securely transferred over the internet.

o 4.2 International transfers of your Personal Data

Ya Bish Fit operates businesses in multiple jurisdictions, some of which are not located in the European Union or European Economic Area (“EEA”). The Personal Data that Ya Bish Fit collects from users will be stored in Australia and/or the United States of America and might also be shared with third party data recipients (e.g. e-commerce and logistics providers such as Shopify, and customer support providers such as Zendesk) that are not located in the EEA, Australia or the United States of America. Therefore, the Personal Data that you provide to Ya Bish Fit may be transferred internationally to countries other than the country in which you initially provided your data.

We also require all third party data recipients (including our service providers) to process your information in a secure manner and in accordance with the GDPR and other applicable Data Privacy Law (e.g. through the signing of the EU Standard Contractual Clauses). If you have further questions about this or would like to request to view copies of the applicable safeguards (where required), please contact us at the details in Section 11 below.

- 4.3 Retention of your Personal Data

We will not retain your data for longer than is necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it is being processed. To determine the appropriate retention period, we consider the amount, nature and sensitivity of the personal data, the purposes for which we process it, and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means.

We also consider the periods for which we might need to retain personal data in order to meet our legal obligations, or to deal with complaints and queries, and to protect our legal rights in the event of a claim being made. In general, this means that we will likely keep your Personal Data for as long as your User Account is open. Following closure of your User Account, however, we may still retain a limited portion of your Personal Data so that we can maintain a continuous relationship with you if and when we are in contact with you again, and to comply with our internal processes and any legal obligations.

When we no longer need your personal data, we will securely delete or destroy it. We will also consider if and how we can minimise over time the personal data that we use, and if we can fully anonymise your personal data so that it can no longer be associated with you or identify you, in which case we may use that information without further notice to you.

Information that you have shared in the Forum will remain public even after you have closed your Forum account. Where you choose to delete content that you have posted to the Forum, the information will not be deleted from third party websites, apps or internet search engine indexes instantly as removal of the content depends on third party policies.
